Tip-Tip-Tippaley Toe.
My tiny gray mouse
In a French chapeau.
Wearing your dapper, felt black beret,
It seems you're always scurrying away.

I've seen you once
Or twice before,
Peeking out
From our kitchen door.
My tiny gray mouse
In that French chapeau.
You're quite the sight,
As you surely must know.

I've seen you here and...

I've seen you there.

In fact it seems you're everywhere.
