High Point Author Releases First Children's Picture Book About Italian Cat Touring Italy's Great Cities

New Paws and Claws Publishing author Cathy Robbins has always loved cats. She took a once-in-a-lifetime trip to Italy. She wrote this story of Tenino the cat traveling around Italy after having been inspired by her trip. This unique offering illustrates Italian cities, buildings, and culture. Cathy's book will interest readers in historic Italian architecture and Italy's great cities.

GREENSBORO, NC—DECEMBER 13, 2019—Tenino grew up on a farm in southwestern Italy. He wanted to visit the great cities in Italy. One day he said good-bye to his farm friends and began his adventure.

As Tenino visited each city, he befriended a cat in each place. The cats showed Tenino all the sights of the cities.

Tenino started in Sorrento where he ate his first fresh ocean-fish dinner. Then he went to Assisi where he saw the basilica. He traveled on to romantic Venice where he enjoyed watching a gondola. Florence's spectacular architecture and art masterpieces awed him. In Pisa he saw its famed leaning tower. Because he was homesick for the farm, Tenino went to Siena to see the horses. Siena is known for its horse races. Finally Tenino made his way to Rome, his ultimate destination.

By the end of his first day in Rome, he met many of the cats living there. Tenino knew he had found his new home and that he would be very happy living in Rome with all the cats.

The soft watercolors of the background artwork in this book give readers an intriguing look at the cities and countryside of Italy. This book shows that Tenino's dream of touring around Italy paid off exactly as the cat had planned.

Tenino's Adventures Through Italy is a fascinating look at Italian cities and life. Its cat characters will entertain readers. This story's happy ending will make readers glad that Tenino found his new home of his dreams.
